

The Sandy Hook Elementary School Massacre

By: Andrew S. MacGregor

Prelude

In 2009 The Obama Administration initiated moves against The American Constitution. The target was the 2nd Amendment.

The Dep't of Homeland Security, FEMA, the FBI and the BATFE were all involved in the planning of the moves to bring about the required changes once the State Dep't had initiated moves with the United Nations.

The Modus Operandi was to follow the successful moves orchestrated by the National Coalition for Gun Control led by Rebecca Peters in Australia and Philip Alpers in New Zealand in the late 1980's up to 1996.

In July 2012, the Preliminary moves were made. The American 'State Dep't' under Hillary Clinton was in discussions with the United Nations in regard to an 'Arms Trade Treaty'. On the 20th of July 2012, midway through those discussions with the United Nations, there was a 'Lone-nut' gun massacre at the Aurora Theatre in Colorado. This was only the preliminary stage, and although there were some mistakes and the 'Lone-nut' patsy survived, the original plan continued.

The plan required a 'double whammy' a second and more heart-wrenching massacre so as the Obama Administration could say that had the required 'Changes to the Constitution' been permitted in July 2012, then this massacre would never have taken place.

There were two 'teams' selected. Team 'A' was to escort the 'patsy' to the site of the massacre, conduct the massacre, kill the patsy at the site of the massacre, making his death appear to be a suicide and then retreat and wait for the Team 'B'. Team 'B' was the ERT, and as the protocols require would only have been told enough to complete their task properly, thus they would be unaware of the purpose behind their actual positioning.

On the 14th of December 2012, the second planned massacre occurred. The selected patsy, Adam Lanza was escorted to the Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown Connecticut, after his mother had been murdered. Lanza's escort consisted of two police officers. A third police officer began to leave a cache of rifles and shotguns within the proximity of the school. The fourth member of the team, armed with an AR-15 rifle that could fire on fully automatic, and fitted with a 100 round capacity magazine then entered the school and after entering one classroom, murdered the entire class by herding the students into a huddle and then spraying them with bullets. This resulted in the students being shot between 3 to 11 times as reported by the Coroner.

The gunman then shot the school principal and two there staff in the hallway as they approached the classroom. The gunman then moved to the second classroom and began to murder those occupants, but stopped halfway.

This abrupt ending of the massacre is extremely telling. It tells us that the gunman was able to listen in on the police communications, and learnt that the report to 911 had occurred as expected. However the report was of 'shots being fired', not children being murdered, and so, the 'Emergency Dispatcher' instead of calling for the Emergency Response Team at Carmel, simply gave the call to the local police who were able to respond so quickly that they almost caught the fleeing gunman.

As it was, the gunman had 45 seconds to finish the shooting, leave the school building and get into the waiting 'escape' vehicle, a 'red/maroon van' registration number 872 YEO, which the first police responders saw leaving the school and requested details.

However, the gunman in his haste had failed to leave the murder weapon behind; he took it with him, along with the 100 round capacity magazines.

The other members of the Team 'A' are now caught in a serious situation. The members escorting the patsy, 'Adam Lanza' then execute the patsy with a Glock pistol, making it look like a suicide. They though now have to leave this area without being seen, so, to ensure that no school staff or students risk peeking out of their classrooms, they fire their pistols as they move away from the killing zone. The entire shooting incident took just over three minutes to complete, but the local police were able to 'arrest' the three remaining members of the Team 'A'.

Team 'B' has offered their services in assisting at the massacre, but are informed they are not required.

Now here it where it becomes really interesting. The first police to arrive at Sandy Hook Elementary find the body of Adam Lanza. He has two pistols with him and is quite dead. He is the presumed gunman. However, once the police check out the classrooms with the dead bodies in them, all they can see are the empty .223 cartridges. There is no .223 firearm, and there are no magazines. A very diligent search takes place, and the three weapons are located outside the school buildings. However, still no .223 firearm.

At some time in the morning, Lt. J. Paul Vance of the Connecticut State Police takes command of the crime scene. He is aware that the local police have made a very thorough search of the area, but have been unable to find the murder weapon.

The only place the local police have been unable to search is the 'locked' trunk of the black Honda sedan that the 'patsy' Adam Lanza had supposedly driven to the school. Thus Vance would tell the media that the 'murder weapon' has been located in the trunk of the black Honda sedan, and names the weapon as a 'Bushmaster'.

This lie resolves the problem of the missing murder weapon, but creates the problem of just how the murder weapon got there in the first place. This problem is resolved that night when Lt. J. Paul Vance have police search the trunk of the Honda in the middle of the night when all but his trusted crew are present, and films the finding of the 'shotgun' that had originally been found by the first police outside the school buildings.

This act then changes the 'story' and now the 'Bushmaster' can be moved from the trunk of the Honda to within the area where Adam Lanza's body was found. There is still though the problem of the missing magazines, and so Lt. J. Paul Vance now tells of the finding of the 30 round capacity magazines that fit the 'Bushmaster'. The problem with the 30 round capacity magazines is that they do not explain the style of shooting that took place, and the lack of sufficient magazines. There is also the very short period of time that the shooting took place so again Lt. J. Paul Vance simply expands the time frame of the shooting ignoring the actual evidence of surviving staff and the police dispatch calls..

And so the criminal acts have been hidden. The Sandy Hook Elementary School will be closed down and demolished. Another vacant school building which has been refurbished will replace the Sandy Hook Elementary School, and the Obama Administration will continue with their efforts to remove the 2nd Amendment of the American Constitution.
